

TUESDAY EDITION
SEMI-WEEKLY KERNEL

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

FROSH GAME
KENTUCKY VS. LEE COLLEGE
8 P.M. IN ALUMNI GYM

VOLUME XXIII

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1933

NEW SERIES NO. 32

MILITARY QUEENS
GIVEN IN LIST BY CAPTAIN GRADYStanding of 'I' Without Disciplinary Restrictions Is RegulationSUBJECT TO CHANGE
WITHOUT NOTICEDate of Election Has Not Been Decided Upon By OfficialsNominees for regimental, battalion, and company sponsors were released yesterday by Capt. Clyde Grady, adjutant of the military department.Because of the regulations which require nominees to have made a standing of at least 1.0 and to be under no disciplinary restrictions,
the following list of nominees may undergo some changes before the date of election, which has not yet been decided upon. The candidates for the respective positions are as follows:Regimental—Bliss Warren, Jane Givens, Mary King Montgomery.
First Battalion—Mary Alice Palmer, Jane Ann Matthews.
Second Battalion—Jean Dawson, Edna Brumagen.
Company A—Sara Reynolds, Elizabeth Jones, Jane Dyer.
Company B—Neve R. Giles, Isabelle Preston, Nancy Belle Moss.
Company C—Opal Hubble, Marjorie Powell, Mildred Holmes.
Company E—Marjorie Fieber, Ruby Dunn, Lois Robinson, Sara Whittinghall, Bettie Boyd.
Company F—Gayle Elliott.
Company G—Virginia Pitzer.
Mary E. Chick, Jane Corbett.Kampus KernelsAccording to the definitions employed among journalists a galleys is a metal tray in which type is placed in order to secure proofs of the copy, before placing it in the press.There will be a meeting of the business staff of the Kentucky at 3
p. m. Wednesday in Room 55, Mc-Vey hall. All members are requested to be present.JOHN EWING, Business Manager.All members of the W. S. G. A. council are asked to meet at 5 p. m.
Wednesday, February 8, in the Boyd hall reading room for the first meeting of the semester.All Stroller members are requested to be present at the meeting at 5 p. m., today, in White hall. Election of director will take place at this meeting.(Signed:) WINSTON ARDERY PresidentRegular monthly meeting of Seaboard and Blade will be held 7:15 p. m., Tuesday, in the Armory.
Important.Omicron Delta Kappa will meet at 5 p. m., today, in the commerce room, White hall. This is a very important meeting.(Signed:) GEORGE STEWART PresidentAll dormitory men, new and old,
are cordially invited to the Wednesday, February 8, meeting of the Bradley-Kincaid-Breckenridge club.
Reorganization of the club is in order. The organization is strictly social in purpose and dormitory men are urged to attend. The meeting opens at 7 p. m. For further information see Reano at Bradley hall, or Spragens at Breckenridge hall.Alpha Delta Sigma will hold its monthly business meeting in the Kernel office at 7 p. m., Tuesday, February 7. All members are urged to be present.Cwens will hold a special meeting at 5 p. m. Thursday in the reading room of Boyd hall. Important business will be discussed and it is imperative that all members be present.ELIZABETH HARDIN, PresidentThe French club will meet at 3
p. m. today in the reading room of Boyd hall. All students interested in French are invited to attend.There will be a compulsory meeting of the society staff at 2 p. m.
tomorrow in the Kernel news room.
With the exception of Jane Ann Matthews and Virginia Young, who attended the meeting yesterday, every absentee will be dropped from the staff. This meeting is very important, for at this time a complete revision of the department will take place.ELIZABETH HARDIN, Society EditorThe Men's Student council will meet in room 4, Administration building, at 4 p. m. Tuesday, February 7.An important meeting of the Pershing Rifles will be held in Lieutenant LeSturgeon's room at
(Continued on page Four)ENGLISH MADE BEAUTIFUL, MELODIOUS BY RHETORICIANHere is a chance for everyone to get out his shot gun or whatever instrument he is most adept with when he... well, anyhow, here's another feature on "beautiful" words—along with a few ugly ones.Wilfred J. Funk, poet and publisher, started the ball perambulating with a list of ten words—
"beautiful in meaning and in mis-labeled arrangement of their letters."His list after a thorough sifting of thousands of words, consists of:
Hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, mist, luminous, chimes, golden, melody.But to get local... Augusta Roberts, 'Y' secretary, says, "I think that one would find different words beautiful in various sections of the country due to differences in modulation and accent. Sparkling, laughter, dawn, universal, are my selections for the most beautiful—but, don't you think vistles is the ugliest?"Aure, ethereal, golden, and lovely are suggested by Grant C. Knight of the English department. "There are so many ugly words," he said,
"that I haven't time to pick them out. Words with double Z in them are the ugliest... razz, jazz... words that have 'v' in them are invariably pretty. It is very difficult to separate the sound from the meaning of the word."Professor Enoch Grehan, head of the Journalism department, said,
"Haleyon, valhalla, Bethlehem, chrysolite, eldorado, elysium are among the most beautiful words,
and sycophant, synosure, bulwark,
and pier are the ugliest."Margaret I. Kling, head librarian, said that she thought the following ten were the most beautiful:
smybolism, jasmine, damosel, glimmer, colophon, melody, maharajah, sequestered, tribunal, and concilla-tion."All words are beautiful," said L.
C. Robinson, geologist. "I could not name any special ones... the most beautiful word is the right word in the right place. When a word is used in the wrong place it becomes ugly."Hollywood, reported by the New Haven Register, lives up to its reputation. "It's a matter of taste," Albert Conn said, "Greenback is all ten of them."Richard Shayer, scenario executive, who wrote "Private Jones,"
and collaborated on "Trader Horn,"
said he preferred "beer, wine, repeal, Scotch, soda, Manhattan, Martini, ale, Trojan, and Roosevelt."James Seymour likes cardiac and garbage, "if only," he commented wistfully, "they meant something nice."Theodore Dreiser "submits 10 words which," comments the American, "whimsically enough turn out to be taken from the titles of nine of his stories, and a periodical he writes for periodically." His list:
Jennie, Titan, chains, spectator,
edy, moods.Reginald Wercrath, the baritone,
gives a singer's slant on beautiful
words in The Publisher's Auxiliary, and confesses to feel "a more musical appreciation of short simple words": Home, marine, vernal,
human, ballad, glow, noble, cloud, strength, celody.But after all a person uses the word that expresses his feelings,
as long as it's the right word and not the wrong person he doesn't have to worry about it's beauty.Inter-Frat Sing
By Cwens-O. D. K.
7:30 P. M. ThursdayThe annual inter-fraternity sing, sponsored by the Cwens and Omicron Delta Kappa, will be held at 7:30
p. m. Thursday, February 16, in Memorial hall. Three out-of-town judges will be selected, but their names will not be revealed until after the contest.The contest is open to all the fraternities, sororities and dormitories on the campus. Groups of no less than 12 nor more than 24
may enter the contest. Each group will sing two songs. Formal dress will be worn by the girls and informal by the boys.This is the first inter-fraternity and sorority sing that has been sponsored by Cwens and Omicron Delta Kappa in collaboration. Formerly Omicron Delta Kappa sponsored the event. Gold cups, to be awarded the winners of the contest, are on display at Dunn's Drug store.The committee in charge of the contest is composed of George Stewart, president of O. D. K., Elizabeth Hardin, president of Cwens, Betty Boyd, Gordon Burns, Jean Foxworth.

BAND PLAYS AT GAME

At the basketball game last night
between University of Kentucky and the University of Mexico, Elmer G. Sulzer and the Kentucky band honored the visiting team by playing a group of Mexican selections. For the first time at any basketball game this year, the band played in concert arrangement, this arrangement being used for the tunes of Mexico.

MATH CLUB TO MEET

The White Mathematics club will meet at 3 p. m. Wednesday, February 8, in McVey hall. Mr. James Teller, who is in charge of the program, will speak on the "Elementary Permutation Group."

Assembly Speaker

BISHOP F. MCCONNELL

BIDS ACCEPTED
BY 17 NEOPHYTESSeven Sororities Pledge on First Bid Day of Second Semester in Accordance With Rules

WAS LAST BID DAY

Bids were accepted by 17 girls at preferential pledging services conducted in accordance with Women's Pan-hellenic rules, at noon Monday, February 6. All bids were given out through the office of the dean of women. Names of the new pledges follow:Alpha Delta Theta: Nancy Alverson, Lexington; Lois May Banks,
New Castle, Pa.Alpha Gamma Delta: Jean St.
John, Troy, Ohio; Mary Helen Thompson, Mackville; Mary Lou Jackson, Hickman; Mary Ellen Woods, Pleasantville, Dorothy Ann
Dundon, Paris.Alpha Xi Delta: Mariam Burton, Miami, Florida; Sara Brown, Sulphur.Delta Zeta: Ada Howard, Middleboro; Mildred Lee Wesley, Majestic; Carolyn Stewart, Lexington; Edith Benton, Somerset.Zeta Tau Alpha: Elma Perkins, Virginia; Dorothy Smith, Lebanon.Kappa Kappa Gamma: Burton
Hawkins, Lexington.Delta Delta Delta: Elizabeth Ows-
ley Frye, Duluth, Minnesota.Girl Scout Course Planned for U. K.A course in Girl Scout leadership, open to all university girls who are interested in scouting as a profession or as a community enterprise,
will be conducted the week of February 13, beginning at 7:15 p. m.
Monday in Boyd hall, under the joint auspices of the Girl Scouts of America and the University.The leader of the class will be Miss Ida
May Born, from the National Girl Scout headquarters.At the meeting Monday night, the time and place for the meetings will be arranged. A second week of the class will be offered if a sufficient number of girls desire to continue the course after the first week.Girls who wish to sign up for the course may consult Mrs. Sarah B.
Holmes. From 25 to 35 members will be admitted and preference will be given upperclassmen. Friday, February 8, will be the final date for registration.Neal Addresses
'Y' Luncheon ClubPresident of W.S.G.A. Speaks to Members of U. K. Commuters' GroupLois E. Neal, president of the university Women's Self-Government association and of the Women's Administrative Council, spoke to the members of the luncheon club for town girls and commuters on "College Values," at the second weekly meeting of the group at noon Friday in the University commons.At this time the group elected its officers to serve through the remainder of the term. Those elected included Marjorie West, chairman; Helen Frye, historian, and Joan Carigan, program chairman.The next meeting of the club recently organized by the campus Y.
W. C. A. will be held at 12 noon
Friday in the commons. Mrs. Frank L. McVey will be guest speaker for the occasion.EMPHASIS WEEK OPENS AT 10 A. M.
IN CONVOCATIONSeats for Night Meetings Will Be Reserved 'Til 7:50 p. m.
For StudentsBISHOP F. MCCONNELL, PRINCIPAL SPEAKERInteresting Program Is Plan
of Y.W.-Y.M. Groups for Religious PeriodSeats will be reserved until 7:50
p. m. at Memorial hall tonight,
Wednesday and Thursday for students who want to hear Francis McConnell, Bishop of the New York area, Methodist Episcopal church,
who will be the speaker for Religious Emphasis week which begins at 10 a. m. today in convocation.Religious Emphasis week is sponsored annually by the Y. W. C. A.
and Y. M. C. A. All students and faculty members are invited to attend the lectures. Dr. S. Parkes Cushman, who spoke here last year,
recommended Bishop McConnell
very highly because of his wide experience in speaking before student circles. The subject of his lectures will be "Religion in the Modern World."The programs for Religious Emphasis week follow in brief:Tuesday, February 7 — General convocation for students and faculty members at 10 a. m. in Memorial hall with Pres. Frank L. Mc-Vey presiding.Business manager meeting under auspices of Kiwanis club at the Lafayette hotel at 12 o'clock noon.General mass meeting in Memorial hall for students, faculty, and townspeople at 8 p. m. Miss Katherine Jones, president of Y. W. C. A., will preside. Mrs. L. L. Dantzier will give a vocal solo.Wednesday, February 8 — Englineering convocation (other students can attend) 10 a. m.; Pitkin club 12 o'clock; Mass meeting 8 p. m. in Memorial hall with John Carter, president of the Y. M. C. A., presiding; a string trio which includes David Young, violin; Robert Allen,
cello, and Miss Mary Ann O'Brien, harp, will provide the music.Thursday, February 9 — Meeting of the mass meeting 8 p. m. in Memorial hall with the Rev. George Heaton, president of the Lexington
Ministers association, presiding.
Meeting of ministers in University Commons at 12 o'clock with Frederick Wallace, Paris, presiding. Miss Marie Blinnott will sing a solo.
Mass meeting in Memorial hall 8
p. m. Miss Augusta Roberts, secretary of Y. W. C. A., presiding. Men's quartette, Halbert, Leach, Alfred Reece, Gentry Shelton, and Charles Wunderlich will sing.Students must enter the door nearest the stage at Memorial hall
in order to obtain reserved seats for the night meetings, because the front rows will be roped off.NATIONAL TAKES SIGMA BETA XIPresent Local Will Be 68th
Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon; Installation Set for March 2, 3, 4Sigma Beta Xi, local fraternity will become the 68th chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity, on March 2, 3, and 4.The new chapter will be known as Kentucky Alpha of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Plans are under way for a banquet, dance, or dinner dance, which is to take place during the installation program in March.Sigma Beta Xi was established in 1922 at the University of Kentucky campus and the chapter house is now located at 328 Aylesford Place. The chapter has 18 active members and 10 pledges.
Gene Miller is the president at the present time.

MRS. MCVEY TALKS AT HALLS

Mrs. Frank L. McVey spoke to the girls of Patterson and Boyd residence halls at an informal meeting at 10 p. m. last night in the Paterson recreation hall. The meeting was held in connection with the annual Religious Emphasis Week on the campus, being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Following Mrs. McVey's talk, hot chocolate and cakes were served to the girls assembled.BISHOP MCCONNELL'S SCHEDULETuesday:
General Convocation, 10 a. m.
Kiwanis Club, LaFayette hotel, 12:15 p. m.
Y. M. and Y. W. Banquet, Boyd
hall, 8 p. m.Wednesday:
Engineers Convocation, Memorial hall, 10 a. m.
Pitkin Club, Maxwell Presbyterian church, 12 o'clock noon.
Mass meeting, Memorial hall,
8 p. m.Thursday:
Kentucky Ministers Meeting,
Memorial hall, 10 a. m.
Ministers Luncheon, University commons, 12 o'clock noon.
Mass meeting, Memorial hall,
8 p. m.'CATS SWAMP REPRESENTATIVES
FROM OLD MEXICO AS CAPACITY CROWD OVERFLOWS GYMNASIUMCAST IS CHOSEN FOR 'THE CIRCLE'W. Somerset Maugham's Drama of Modern Society to Run Week of February 13

DANTZLER HAS LEAD

The Guignol theater presents
"The Circle," Somerset Maugham's
modern society drama, for its first 1933 play throughout the week of February 13.Prof. L. L. Dantzier, head of the department of English, will enact the character lead as Lord Clive Champion-Cheney, and will be welcomed to the Guignol boards in this his first appearance as a member of Little Theater cast. Professor Dantzier's striking appearance and interesting voice will contribute much to the production.Other members of the cast, as announced by Director Fowler, are as follows:Lady Kitty Champion-Cheney — Mrs. W. P. Wilkison.
Lord Porteous—Cass Robinson.
Arnold Champion-Cheney — Littleton Daniels.Elizabeth Champion-Cheney — Minna Bloomfield.
Teddy Luton—Waldan Thomas.
Anna Shenstone—Marjorie Powell.

Georgianna—Helen Morrison.

C. of E. Meets
Each Monday
In Round TableInformal Discussions Held
Weekly at 4 p. m. in Dicker HallFor the benefit or enlightenment
of the majority of the student body,
not including the engineers, it may be announced that the entire faculty of the College of Engineering
meets at 4 p. m. every Monday for a series of round-table discussions.These informal meetings, which are held in the Heat Engineering room of Dicker hall, are as regular as Dean Anderson puts it—as your evening meal. It is not probable that any speech-making events will take place at these meetings—
thus paving the way for a newspaper scoop—nevertheless, the meetings are of tremendous importance.The chief benefit derived therefrom, other than the regular work carried on, is the maintenance of the family group feeling. (The chief departure from the family idea being that there is a peaceful atmosphere about the whole thing). The gentlemen smoke and quietly discuss matters concerning the college
as they would concerning affairs of the home.Dean Anderson said, "As a college grows older and larger, there is a tendency for it to depart more and more from the group spirit. I have tried to maintain a group spirit among the faculty members and a class spirit among the students of the College of Engineering." He continued, "Just as it is less pleasure to eat alone, so it is to work alone or without a feeling of companionship. Therefore, regular weekly meetings are held both for the faculty and for the students, in which a friendly discussion of the work may be had."Beaumont To Head Psychology TourTwo Courses Offered During 70-Day Trip Through EuropeDuring the summer of 1933 the University of Kentucky will again cooperate with the Psychological Institute of the University of Vienna, and credit for the work will be given by the University of Kentucky.The trip will cover 70 days; the steamer, "Manhattan" of the United States Lines, leaving New York June 22, and the "Majestic," returning to that point August 28.
During the sight-seeing tour on the Continent many picturesque and interesting places will be visited among which are: Paris, Brussels, Heidelberg, Interlaken, Nuremberg, and Cologne.The price of the tour is $602.00
and includes the round trip steamship accommodations, second class
railroad transportation in Europe,
third class on the mountain excursion out of Interlaken, first class on river steamers, hotel accommodation at good, comfortable
hotels, and three table d'hôte meals
a day.Applications for enrollment may be obtained from Dr. Beaumont.Part Popularity Is Evidenced By Vesper AudienceQuartette of Transylvania
Glee Club Well Received
By Musicales Fans

By MAYRVE CYE

The Transylvania Glee club under the direction of Thomas Harborne, and accompanied by Miss May Hughes Noland presented a varied group of selections, including solos
by James Curtis, tenor; Willetta Tucker, soprano; and Gentry Shelton; and a number of the mixed quartette, at the Sunday musicale,
February 5, at 4 p. m., in Memorial hall. Prof. R. D. McIntyre who is in charge of arrangements for the musicales, introduced the group.Willetta Tucker, who substituted for Estelle Paritz, soprano soloist who was unable to be present, easily won her audience with the clarity and sweetness of her tone and poise in "The Gondolier's Song" by Meyer Helmholtz; and "Love, The Pedlar," by Edward German.The first soloist, James Curtis, tenor, sang "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," by Quilter; and "Morning," by Oley Spinks; the latter selection displayed the rich quality of his voice.The selection, "Regular Royal Queen," by Sullivan, sung by the quartette, was an amusing parody
which was well received by the audience. Members of the quartette were Alice Duryea, Jane Rathford, James Curtis, and Roy Hulen."Land Sighting," by Grieg-Spicer, in which the incidental solo was rendered by Gentry Shelton, provided a vehicle for displaying the ability of the group in part singing.The incidental trumpet solo by J. B. Knapp greatly enhanced the selection "John Peel," an Old English selection which was sung by the whole group.Among the selections which proved most popular with the large audience which attended the program in spite of bitter weather, were
"When a Maid Comes Knocking," by Friant; the fine number, "O! O-John," by Thiman; and "Three Bumble Bees," by Truhn. In the last mentioned selection, an unusually realistic effect of bees buzzing in the garden was achieved by the group, and served as a background for the melody.Four Will Receive Medals For Service
Given To EducationMembers of the Kentucky Education Committee are to be awarded official George Washington Bicentenennial Commemorative medals for services rendered in the George Washington Bicentennial last year, according to Sol Bloom, director of the commission.Those of the committee are James Richmond, state superintendent of schools; Dean W. S. Taylor of the College of Education, and
Dr. Wellington Patrick, and Prof.
Louis Clifton of the University extension department.Kentucky won a prominent place in the educational activities and a number of contributions of Kentucky school children have been published by the National commission. First honors in oration were won for the entire nation by James Rayburn Moore, Somerset, a student at Washington and Lee University at the time.The official medal presented to the committee was designed by Mrs.
Laura Gardin Fraser, noted sculptor of New York, and is a replica of the medal presented to President Hoover.Cosmopolitan Club
Will Hear Roberts
On European TripMiss Augusta Roberts, Y. W. C. A. secretary, will recount her experiences at the student conferences
in Europe last summer at a meeting of the Cosmopolitan club which will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the home of Prof. and Mrs. O.
T. Koppfus, 110 University avenue.
Miss Roberts will base her talk on the following conferences which she attended: British Student Movement Conference, Swanick, Dorsetshire; Seminar on Contemporary Germany, Berlin; International Student Service Conference, Bruno, Czechoslovakia; and World
Student Christian Federation, Zeist,
Holland.Mrs. E. A. Bureau is assisting
Mrs. Koppfus in the arrangements for the meeting.

ART LECTURE SCHEDULED

Prof. E. W. Rannels will present an illustrated lecture on Chinese art, entitled "The Tiger and the Dragon," at a meeting of the American Association of University Women, at 3:30 p. m., Tuesday, February 14, at Patterson hall. Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women, will preside.LOPSIDED SCORE OF 81 TO 22 SHOWS
CAT SUPERIORITYScore at Half-Time Is 38-7; Orange Team Fouls Often
In FrayLATIN CENTER IS DWARFED BY SALECenter-Climbing Instead of Usual Jump Employed
By Fals

By A. STANLEY TRUCKETT

The University of Kentucky met and conquered the pride of the Republic of Mexico last night when they trounced the University of Mexico "Fals." The boys from below the muddy Rio Grande were outclassed from the start, but until the very end they proved to be game and exceptionally sportsman-like fighters. The Mexican quintet provided Wildcat followers with the fastest brand of basketball seen on the local boards this year. Their play was so aggressive that at times Referee Tehan had difficulty keeping tabs on the play.Early in the game John DeMoisey shifted into freewheeling and placed the 'Cats well away to an early lead, and after five minutes of play
the Big Blue led 21 to 2. All during the first half, the Kentucky
avalanche rumbled on and the baskets reminded the lads from across the international line of revolutions—they were so frequent. Fouls were called often during the first period with the Orange being the most persistent offenders and Coach Rupp's boys scoring heavily on the gratis throws.The score at the half way point was Kentucky, 38; Mexico, 7; the presence of several second stringers
in the Kentucky array seemed to slow down the 'Cats in the closing moments and allow the Mexicans several shots. Many things would indicate that the invaders play a different type of basketball in the sunny land of the cactus; for example the style of center jumping, employed by the Mexicans was radically different from anything ever seen in these parts before. Hermandez, five foot nine inch-center for the "Fals" would go into the air as high as possible with a regular jump

The Kentucky Kernel

Published on Tuesdays and Fridays

Member
National College Press Association
Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association
Lexington Board of Commerce

Official Newspaper of the Students of the University of Kentucky, Lexington

Subscription $2.00 a year. Entered at Lexington, Ky. Postoffice as Second Class Mail Matter.

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL ALWAYS MAINTAIN STUDENT RIGHTS

Lawrence A. Heron, Editor in Chief
Murray C. Wachs, Managing Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS
James R. Moore, Mary Jo Lafferty
Frank Adams, Joe S. Reister

ASSISTANT EDITORS
Fred H. Shields, Virginia Lee Moore

Elizabeth Hardin, Society Editor
Jane A. Matthews, Int. Society Editor

SOCIETY WRITERS
Lucy Jean Anderson, Martha Alford
Virginia Brewster, Willie H. Smith

Johnnie Graddock, Art Editor
Joan Carigan, Dramatic Editor

SPECIAL WRITERS
Howard L. Cleveland

Robert H. McLaughlin, News Editor

ASSISTANT NEWS EDITORS
May Carolyn Tennell, J. D. Palmer
Ben Taylor

REPORTERS
Marjorie West, Ann Hornish
Mary A. Brend, Sara DeLong

Jack May, Arthur Muth
Jane Hamilton, Judith Chadwick
M. Hoagland, E. Shannon

Ralph E. Johnson, Sports Editor
Delmar Adams, Asst. Sports Editor

SPORTS WRITERS
Henry C. McGowan, Joe Quinn
A. Stanley Trickett, Gene Liles

Edward Watts

Coleman R. Smith, Business Manager

ADVERTISING STAFF
Ned Turnbull, Advertising Manager
Dave Dillard, Robert Nall

Bliss Warren, Dan Ewing

C. V. Goffman, Circulation Manager

BISHOP MCCONNELL

Seldom before in the history of this institution has the University had the privilege of welcoming to its campus a more distinguished guest of honor than Bishop Francis John McConnell of New York City. To Bishop McConnell, celebrated author, lecturer, and thinker, we extend the hospitality of our people and their Commonwealth and pledge an undivided support of his leadership in the religious emphasis program.

The former president of the Federal Council of Churches of America is visiting Lexington and the campus to direct and lead the third annual religious emphasis week program, sponsored jointly by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Too much credit cannot be given these two student organizations for bringing such a celebrity as Bishop McConnell to Kentucky. And everyone, without regard for church affiliation, is expected to unite with our guest leader in an effort to reach a better understanding of religion in this modern world.

This morning at 10 o'clock in Memorial hall Bishop McConnell will deliver his initial discourse at general convocation. The theme of the lectures is to be "Religion in the Modern World" delivered from the student viewpoint. The noted Methodist Episcopal bishop is expected to evoke profound thought among his various audiences as he speaks publicly on nine different occasions over a period of three days. It is an imposing schedule even for one as versed in his field as Bishop McConnell, but it will afford many persons the opportunity of hearing him several times.

It is not known whether Bishop McConnell will paint an esthetic word-picture or express himself in every day stark realism as to moral obligations and the value of fundamental liturgy. Regardless of which plan he chooses to use, one thing is certain: Bishop McConnell will leave us with something to think about; something by which we may revalue our religion after having taken inventory of ourselves. No one should deny himself the opportunity of hearing the University's guest of honor as often as possible.

SPORTS AND SPIRIT

The Fals basketball team of Mexico University engaged the Wildcats Monday night in a contest played in the Alumni gymnasium. To most persons present, the game was just another contest with added interest lent by the fact that the visiting five were natives of a romantic country—Mexico.

The Mexican club is on a two month's tour of America, playing teams in all sections of the nation. According to advance press notices sent out by the University, the real purpose of the team's visit to the United States is to foster a better feeling between the people of that nation and the American public.

International contests as a means to an end is fast assuming a prominent position throughout the world. That athletic contests should be used to promote sister spirit among nations, differing in customs and ideals, appears to be an excellent idea.

Sports, from the time of the Olympic games to the present day, have served to encourage a fraternal love among those participating. That the persons who witness these contests should find this feeling and foster it naturally follows. Athletes bound by a common interest, yet being of different blood, have an opportunity to place themselves upon the same plane because of that common bond.

Teams representing one country can, through their sportsmanlike conduct, impress those of another country with the true character of the people of that nation. Through this channel may flow the tide of better understanding benefiting all concerned.

As a means of international diplomacy sports are serving to unite nations in a common bond of friendship and understanding. Such a movement certainly is to be commended by all intelligent citizens and, especially, by students who can readily understand the worthiness of such a procedure.

THE 'RUSTING' OF THE POT

For the first time in many years, the enforced wearing of freshman caps throughout the school year has been abolished. Last semester the Incumbent Men's Student Council voted a resolution making compulsory the wearing of the blue and white pots only during the first semester. As the result of this dictum freshmen who already have not discarded their fading symbols may now discard them at their will.

In past years the wearing of the freshman cap had become the one outstanding requisite of first-year men. The symbol was upheld both by Council ruling and by tradition even stronger than any official dictum. It had outlived the sophomore-freshman tug-of-war and other crumbling customs. It was old; it was the sole survivor of a forgotten collegiate heyday. Being old, being traditional, being the one bright relic glinting the mold of memory, the blue and white pot remained very dear to the hearts of all University men and women.

In these latter years the tradition has lost much of its burnish. Its gloss has disappeared in the routine of a modern, bustling university. With the beginning of last semester no effort had been made to procure caps for the incoming freshman class.

After the huzzling about of a few scattered murmurs we wailing the cap's disappearance, the Council made a belated attempt to revive the tradition. Subsequently, the resolution mentioned above was passed to restore the pot to its former eminence. By the resultant curtailing of its reign, the cap has lost its former campus importance. Doubtless, it is a dying glory.

During the incipient semester the caps will be missed. There is no doubt about that. Elimination of the wearing of the cap throughout the school year is certainly not to be commended, nor is it to be criticized. Time will decide the wisdom of the action taken.

JEST AMONG US

Definition of a windshield wiper—An elongated blade made of rubber and metal, the function of which is to hold snugly against the windshield the ticket the traffic cop gives one.

Famous last words—"Oh, but my licensees are applied for."

Speaking of license reminds us of the ette who lamented that maybe the next leap-year wouldn't come in the middle of a depression.

For those who are undergoing literary starvation the Jester would like to remind you that there will be another Kampus Kat soon; so just hold on, help's coming!

Monuments: He never said, Oh! Yeah, when he couldn't think of a suitable wisecrack!

After remaining at the University for a considerable length of time, professors are occasionally given a leave of absence for study abroad. Well, the authorities had certainly better be thankful that this doesn't apply to students; some of them already have been around the world three times.

After the instructor had explained the "Deadline," one student

CID the CYNIC

And as the new semester starts
I've vowed to study more—
I shall, if I can finish
that I should have done before.

termed Journalism as the "man-slaughter" course.

"Something strikes me that I have been defeated," moaned the intramural boxer, as he heard the count of ten.

Music is changing. Moon songs used to be the vogue; now, it seems that dog songs are growing very popular. The Jester, at last, has determined what the old critic had in mind when he said that popular music would soon go to the dogs!

A technocrat is a freshman who can't decide just which fraternity he wants to link up with.

The Jester would like to inform the newcomers of just one thing; that is that you are bound to be some sort of a politician when you graduate or else you haven't got an education.

LOOKING BACK

20 Years Ago This Week
Tau Beta Pi entertained University students with a dance, February 7.

Twenty men practiced for the annual boxing tournament to be held the last of February.

A tentative baseball schedule including 15 games released by the athletic committee.

Wildcat basketball team defeated the University of Cincinnati, 20 to 18.

15 Years Ago This Week
President McVey appointed director of Public Service of Kentucky during the war period.

Faculty of the Arts and Sciences college voted to eliminate courses leading to a B. S. degree.

Kentucky defeated Tennessee in two consecutive basketball games.

Doctor McVey explained in his "Between Us" talk in chapel the proposed legislation pertinent to the University which was before the General assembly. Included in the legislation proposed was a Savings Stamp campaign, and reduction of the number of members of the Board of Trustees from 32 to 15.

10 Years Ago This Week
John R. Mott, LL. D., head of the International Y. M. C. A. addressed students in chapel.

Dean C. R. Melcher returned to the University after a six-month's leave of absence. During his absence Dean Melcher took graduate work at Columbia University.

University of West Virginia wrestlers defeated U. K. Matmen in six out of seven matches.

Big Blue band, broadcasting over WHAS, was the guest of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

Plans were made for a Vocational Guidance day for the assistance of all women students.

U. K. was host to farmers during the annual Farm and Home Week convention.

Cy Barger chosen by the athletic council as baseball coach for the next season.

Interclass basketball tournaments began.

5 Years Ago This Week
Georgia Tech five defeated the Wildcats 35 to 31 in the final conference tilt of the season.

Strollers held the first rehearsal for "Dulcy."

Kentucky Intercollegiate Press association delegates were guests of the University Journalism department.

Campus beauties in Kentuckian contest chosen by the Russian illustrator, Isnold.

Work started on Memorial hall which was to be erected at a cost of $107,250.

Fraternity basketball quintets entered intramural tournaments.

MUCH ADO—

By PINKIE

Who? Me!
Our physiology instructor tells us that all the "stiffs" they work with are not cadavers.

And Spinaeh?
When in Rome one does As Romans do.
But eating garlic.
Is taboo.

Family Tree
I think that I shall never see
So much of "sap" outside a tree.

Technocracy
I work, I work—pusha
Da cart all day—
What do I get?
Two horsepower for pay.

Monkey Shines
When Darwin wrote his "Origin

Of Species" he could not have realized how much monkey business would be stirred up.

Kilowatts of Surprise
Just when we believed things were looking up along came those pesky Technocrats.

A Woman's Privilege
Up Rose old Barbara Fritchie Then—
She wouldn't admit four score
And ten.

Brother, Can You Spare A Dime?
Two words found in the new standard dictionary that are fast becoming obsolete—Job and money.

What doth it profit a man if he gains a wife and "suffer" his mother-in-law to live with him.

The commencement speaker, realizing the hopelessness of the economic situation and not wishing to raise vain hopes, grew serious. "The advantages of higher education as I see them today," he said, and gazing earnestly into the eager faces of the graduates, continued, "are doubtful."

DOTES AND ANTI-DOTES

With a flurry of snow and a check tingling fall in temperature, Old Man Winter asserts his ego and town girls become more and more fortunate.

While brisk breezes whistled down chimneys, youth gathered around hearths to wear away the hours and the furniture. Cuddled in the playrooms of almost every sorority house, lads and lassies, courted in earnest. Sofas, couches, settees, chairs, every lolling place was occupied while the unseated ranged along the walls or roamed the rooms on the chance that some less persistent courter would leave a vacancy.

And the town girls continue to be fortunate.

One Lexington ette has expressed her opinion that she seldom visits her sorority house on Sundays. Implies that it is not lack of loyalty but thoughtfulness.

Says that she has a home of her own, and that she cannot see any sense in adding to the crowd of an already overcrowded spot. For sorority dwellers there is no other place to go.

Maybe, there is something in this Kentucky hospitality after all.

While the rest of us are agonizing over the futility of a $20 bill at registration time and consoling ourselves with the lightened burden of second-semester enrollment—the signing of three instead of 300 cards—an alumna proffers a suggestion for further relief. Writing from Santa Fe, California, Mrs. B. F. Van Meter encloses a newspaper clipping indicating that Kentucky has a monopoly on enterprising co-eds.

During final exams at the University of Southern California, Trojan ladies established tea stations for the succoring of the weary. The stations were opened during exam days for the benefit of eds and co-eds desiring a spot of the stimulating brew after retiring exhausted from tests.

Mrs. Van Meter suggests that similar stations be established along the weary road to the Administration building at registration time, further intimates that some of these California ideas are worth looking into.

How about it? Remember, the word is tea.

Typewriter clicks: When meandering through heavy, downtown traffic, Campus Colie Rebel always waits for the signal lights. Alfazee cache love notes on the mantelpiece in their house. Under the left candlestick, Patty, Dean Evans' young daughter, achieved the highest I. Q. rating of any child ever tested at the University.

Several cadets handing in petitions for military sponsors found that their names already had been used on others... oh, well. One Law college professor illustrates technical points with references to bed-time stories... lately entertained class with a vivid account of "The Three Bears."

LITERARY

TO GREECE
Full hill and silver vale
And deep imprint of time,
A silent melancholy here;
And speechless lips desecrating
Melancholy airs.

A barren mother, thou,
O Greece, that lies in death
Before were dewy vales,
And crannies cool, and streams,
Werc brooks, were flowers,
Werc blue anemones and moss—
But now

Elmemories you lie,
In death, in drouth, and heat
Your raiment gone
Your verdant garment lost from sight
Now, only mem'ries of the past
Save you from shame,
But they outshine all living things
That here abide;
So, Greece, in peace, in pride
Rest, in renowned death.

—J. A. M.

SONNET
I did not even know her name.
Nor where she lived
Or what she did
Each day that she might justly gain
Her daily bread, I only knew
That she was loveliness,
Charm, grace, and happiness—
My heart speaks this to you.
Tonight, my thoughts have fled away.

Searching for some yesterday—
Successful, they take refuge in A smile that's ecstasy—
Is it any sin
To pray...remember me!

—J. R. M.

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

Well, and did you see what the Henry Clay high school glee club did with Gilbert and Sullivan's fantastic opera, "Iolanthe," Friday and Saturday nights in the school auditorium? In case you didn't see it and are still unconscious of your lamentable misfortune in missing it, you may now consider yourself officially notified that you missed one of the finest productions of its kind that local lovers of light opera have seen in a long time.

Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, famous for their roles of Quirt and Flagg, portray these characters in "Hot Pepper," depicting their adventures as Broadway Beau Brummels and owners of rival night clubs where they fight over women amid scenes of gay revelry. Lupe Velez enacts the feminine leading role and El Brendel plays a comedy part. The Fox film starts its engagement Wednesday at the Kentucky theater.

You will be able to judge for yourself whether men are the pursuers of designing women—or whether women are often taken in by unscrupulous men—or both—when the Tower production, "Darling Daughters," comes to the Strand Wednesday. Marlan Marsh heads a cast including Kenneth Thomson, Joan Marsh, Bert Roach, and Allen Vincent. The picture was directed by Christy Cribbins.

By the way, Marlan and Joan are sisters only in that they are both beautifully blonde and both wear the same surname—no blood ties.

BOOK REVIEWS

"NOT DEFENSE BUT RENDITION"
AS I SEE RELIGION, by Harry Emerson Fosdick, Harpers Brothers, New York, 1932, $1.50.

Harry Emerson Fosdick's latest book has inevitably gone into the seventh printing. Critics of his book must remember that he is a noted minister and a popular thinker—very popular.

We defend religion too much. Vital religion, like good music, needs not defense but rendition. So reads a blurb (run on the gold colored jacket) which is a quotation from page 9. After which Mr. Fosdick proceeds to discuss:

"What is religion? What is Christianity? Religion without God? Are religious people fooling themselves? But religion is an art. Morals secede from the union."

One assumes that other people are to do the rendering while the author attends to the defense. The process is simple. The non-theistic humanists are proved to be fooling themselves badly; however, their nobility of purpose and beauty of life are admitted. Certain embittered conclusion (Goncourt's "man is a parasite infesting the epidermis of a midge among the planets") is quoted; not, of course, that Mr. Fosdick's dramatic language has not already reduced the average reader to a state of dismay, which, you know, is laughable but understandable. Very understandable. Old-fashioned religion is equally silly, but then, we all realize that, so little time is spent on it. The really brilliant part comes now. Mr. Fosdick retains certain well-known conclusions of the humanists—or at least, in certain passages he admits the ruthlessness of the universe, and that nothing can be done about it now, but he maintains faith in ultimate friendliness to human personality, and belief in God. The only justification for such belief that I could find grounds for, from the author's presentation, is to think that God must be temporarily paralyzed.

One hesitates to criticize a man who has been subjected to a "barrage" of logical disproof, particularly as such criticism must in this case be made upon no other ground than one's own personal beliefs. One is further disconcerted by finding that in 189 pages Mr. Fosdick has been amazingly all-inclusive; approaching from any one popular line of thought, there are passages upholding "Goodness in General. However, this virtue is signed, and the responsibility mine alone.

A young minister who insists upon radical personal application of the teachings of Christ recently made this remark, "Some of our most thorny literary critics were really meant for Isaiahs and Ezekeiels and St. Pauls. They are ill-content with life as they find it. They crawl away into their libraries to snarl and decry and bite, because they did not, at some crucial moment in their careers, learn to worship and confess and transform the life about them with spiritual forces." All spirituality (in a broad sense) must come from an inward intuition, which is basically a reaching out for God; some of the finest spirits of the world have been terrible, overwhelming made more so because of their ghastly loneliness in searching at all. Admitting personal sincerity to the writer under discussion, one must then conclude that he simply lacks the grasp and insight that marks the seer.

"Of Thee I Sing" has a gorgeous passage giving a political platform as "Love, and the three hundred years following 1492." When, after various and sundry denials of other points of view, Mr. Fosdick brightly asserts that "the genius of Christianity lies in its reverence for personality," one is reminded of that. He rightly insists that a great deal lies in getting oneself in the right attitude, and in having a religion not ego-centric. God would then be able to spring up somehow from within. Judging from the chaos about us, one may conclude that he is a little tired from being perpetually poised and not called upon.

Most religious movements which have led to power for actually changing individuals and social conditions have seemingly proceeded upon the idea that the "genius of Christianity" has been its affirmation of man's potentialities in God. If, people, actually proceed upon that principle, there would be no cause for deploring that principle, there would be no cause for deploring that "modern Christianity...has become too much like and too little trumpet." Probably they would be subjected to such up-to-date crosses as we could produce, but they would have a hilarious time in spite of it. Mr. Fosdick's book may serve to clarify certain issues, upon lines already largely apprehended but not as yet generally recognized. Until, however, he advances a more definite philosophy, a more thorough going belief in God or an entire lack of it, he will continue to be inadequate—and popular. When, if ever, he is adequate, he will cease to be popular—and remember that the Founder of Christianity was crucified. He had no magnificent edifice from which he could propagate "light and power."

—MARJORIE F. HOAGLAND.

FIGHTING DEATH
MEN AGAINST DEATH, by Paul DeKruif, Harcourt, Brace & Company, New York, 1932.
The dramatic record of men's struggle to cheat his most relentless enemy, Death, is the somber theme of the latest book by the author of "Microbe Hunters" and "Hunger Fighters." For many readers it possibly will be even more exciting and absorbing than its predecessors. For the emotion, which DeKruif expresses in his prologue with the words, "I don't want to die," is so universal that few readers will fail to be interested by the story of these plain, obscure, "men against death," who by their discoveries are lengthening our life span and robbing disease of its deadliness.

The story of Banting, who with his discovery of insulin that now saves thousands, previously doomed to an early death, is one of the best in the book. The chapter on Semmelweis, who showed how childbed fever might be conquered, and that of Minot, who found how pernicious anaemia could be checked, also is fascinating and vivid.

Yet the most dangerous "death fighting," perhaps, is being done in Hygienic Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service. Here Alice Evans proved that pasteurization is necessary to rid our raw milk of the Malta fever microbe; here Spencer found his vaccine for Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and here McCoy worked out his serum for the deadly parrot fever.

Other chapters are devoted to the story of the fight against syphilis. Here DeKruif tells of Schaudin, the discoverer of the causative agent, of Bordet who paved the way for the Wassermann test, and of Wassner-Jauregg who fought syphilis infection with fever. Final chapters are given to the labors of Flin, Rollier, and Strömberg, who showed that the sun possesses magic powers of healing apparently hopeless cases of tuberculosis. In the epilogue is given a brief but highly interesting account of the recent work of Coburn on rheumatic fever.

Whether one believes, as Warthin (DeKruif's teacher of pathology)

Room for two boys—with meals. Price reasonable McCRAV INN
334 Harrison Ave.
Near the University

FONTAINEBLEAU
SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Palace of Fontainebleau, France.
Famous French masters: Widor, Philip, Dupre, Nadia Boulanger, Salgue, Lippine, Hilda Roosevelt, De-cens, Hewitt, Bazalotte. Grand jury June 25 to November 25. For 1933 catalogue, address WALTER DAMROSCH, President of the American Conservatory, 119 East 19th Street, New York City.

Today
RUTH CHATTERTON
in FRISCO JENNY

Thur.-Fri.-Sat.
On Our Stage
in Person
MAMIE SMITH

America's greatest colored radio and stage Blues Singer.

Feature Picture
BILL BOYD
in
LUCKY DEVIL

PATRONAGE RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED
FOUNTAIN PENS & PENCILS, INK & STATIONERY
Bring Us Your Prescriptions
LUNCHEONETTE
PHOENIX DRUG CO., Inc.
102 E. Main St.—Lexington, Ky.

Opens 10 a. m. daily;
25c Until 6 p.m.
Bama
Today
RUTH CHATTERTON
in FRISCO JENNY

Thur.-Fri.-Sat.
On Our Stage
in Person
MAMIE SMITH

America's greatest colored radio and stage Blues Singer.

Feature Picture
BILL BOYD
in
LUCKY DEVIL

PATRONAGE RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED
FOUNTAIN PENS & PENCILS, INK & STATIONERY
Bring Us Your Prescriptions
LUNCHEONETTE
PHOENIX DRUG CO., Inc.
102 E. Main St.—Lexington, Ky.

Opens 10 a. m. daily;
25c Until 6 p.m.
Bama
Today
RUTH CHATTERTON
in FRISCO JENNY

Thur.-Fri.-Sat.
On Our Stage
in Person
MAMIE SMITH

America's greatest colored radio and stage Blues Singer.

Feature Picture
BILL BOYD
in
LUCKY DEVIL

PATRONAGE RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED
FOUNTAIN PENS & PENCILS, INK & STATIONERY
Bring Us Your Prescriptions
LUNCHEONETTE
PHOENIX DRUG CO., Inc.
102 E. Main St.—Lexington, Ky.

SOCIETY

ELIZABETH HARDIN, Editor Phone Ashland 6990

HOW BIG IS A MAN?

A man's no bigger than the way he treats his fellow man! This standard has his measure been since time itself began! He's measured not by social rank, when character's the test. Nor by his early pomp or show, displaying wealth possessed! He's measured by his justice, right, his fairness in his play. His equanimity in all dealings made, his honest, upright way. These are his measures, ever near To serve him when they can. For man's no bigger than the way He treats his fellow man.

—AUTHOR UNKNOWN.

CARR-BACH

The following formal announcements have been issued, and are of special interest on the campus: Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McGibbons Carr announce the marriage of their daughter to Mr. Stanley Milward Bach at Scottsburg, Indiana, January the sixth. Nineteen hundred and thirty-three. The bride is a graduate of Pica-dome high school in the class of 1929.

Attie Tom

Mr. Bach, who is the son of Mrs. J. W. Combs, of Jackson and Lexington, is a junior in the University, a member of Phi Kappa Tau, and a letter man on the football team. He is a graduate of the Military Academy of Fort Belvoir, Va.

The couple are making their home with the bride's parents on the Parker's Mill road.

Zeta Valentine Party

Alpha Chi of Zeta Tau Alpha entertained with a novel party at the chapter house Friday afternoon in honor of the new girls entering the University.

The house was decorated with strings of red hearts, and a red and white Valentine color scheme was carried out. After some time had been spent in dancing, the guests were shown by a short floor show. Lois Neal presented her marionette, "Poodle", whose clever dancing, singing and dialogue made him very popular. Kitty Cooke, blues singer, sang several of the current popular songs, and a parody upon "Underneath the Harlequin Moon", which was called "Come and Join the Zeta Gang."

Red and white brick ice cream, decorated with little red cupid, and individual cakes were served.

Fraternity Dinner and Dance

Sigma chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi entertained with a dinner Saturday night at the Wellington Arms tea room, preceding the formal dance in the Alumni gymnasium. The dining room was decorated in the fraternity colors, cardinal and stone. Bowls of red roses were used as centerpieces for the tables.

Guests of the active chapter and pledges were Misses Mary Marshall, Tenny Rhea Inman, Edna Brumagen, Edna Evans, Mary Elizabeth Gillig, Louise Johnson, Margaret Walker, Mildred Hart, Sadie Farmer, Lois Robinson, Virginia Robinson, Sara Reynolds, Eleanor Hillenmeyer, Jape Ann Matthews, Mary Emyl Stanley, Phoebe Dimock, Marjorie Moreland, Katherine Reed, Elizabeth Hardin, Louise Ewing, Betty Blanford, Dale Franklin, Caroline Ronsavall, Willie Hood Hatchett, Dorothy Johnson, and Willie V. Fowler.

Members and pledges of Alpha Sigma Phi are Messrs. William K. Biggerstaff, Gordon Burns, Louis F.

Deible, Robert L. Gray, Henry H. Hall, Omer A. Hecox, William Holtzclaw, John M. Kane, Richard Arnold Lawson, J. Parla Mahan, Donald McCammon, Richard Newcomb, Oscar Reuter, G. R. Sproule, George T. Stewart, George W. Vogel, J. Grady O'Hara, Joseph Saunders, Taylor Davis, Arnold Fust, Ralph Gutcheil, Jay Lucien, John Miller, Logan Ratliff, James Scholl, Malcolm Shotwell, Guy Holclaw, Edwin Leavester, Robert McDowell, Richard Prank, Martin Holbrook, Francis LeBaron, Henry Lutes, D. C. Carpenter, and Harry Day.

The gymnasium was decorated in balloons and spring flowers. The chaperons for the dance were Dr. and Mrs. Henry Beaumont, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. David Young, Mrs. Annie Neel, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Carpenter, Prof. and Mrs. R. D. Hain, Prof. and Mrs. L. S. O'Bannon, Major and Mrs. B. E. Brewer, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Grady, Dean Sarah B. Holmes, Mrs. H. C. Moody.

The guests were Misses Margaret Bohn, Ann Meyers Ross, Rose Mary Baleh, Virginia Hatcher, Anna May Lewis, Esther Briggs, Eddie Roberts, Anita Murry, Peggy Haskins, Elizabeth Barbiere, Judith Chadwick, Virginia Young, Louise Johnson, Margaret Walker, Mary Reitz, Mildred and Lillian Holmes, Ruth Wehle, Catherine Werst, Marion Pinney, Mary Andrews Persons, Mary Alice Palmer, Willie Hood Hatchett, Marjorie Faulkner, Julia Catherine Webb, Anna Bain Hillenmeyer, Dorothy Whitsitt, Tenny Rhea Inman, Bliss Warren, Dot Johnson, Sara Congleton, Dorothy Day, Frances Houlihan, Virginia Farger, Evelyn Grubbs, Frances Kerr, Mary Marshall, Edna Evans, Mary E. Gillig, Marjorie Fieber, Elizabeth Snowden, Virginia Brown, Virginia Pulliam, Mary Chick.

Misses Mary Dantzier, Elizabeth Woodford, Margaret Brown, Ella McElroy, Virginia Bosworth, Dorothy Curtis, Betty Boyd, Mildred Hart, Mary King Montgomery, Nancy Belle Moss, Lucy Shropshire, Lalla Rookh Goodson, Kitty Reynolds, Nell Montgomery, Melvina Ralph, Mary Bryan, Betty Rodgers, Margaret Sydney, Virginia Waddie, Jean Cockle, Lucy Guerrant, Martha Kinney, Jane Glens, Celeste Thompson, Hazel Bryan, Elizabeth Reed, Martha Lowry, Mary Woodbridge, Gay Loughright, Kitty Farr, Jane Corbett, Virginia Rubie, Ann Stevenson, Eleanor Dawson, Betty Rodes, Jean Dawson, Dorothy Strother, Marjorie Powell, Sadie Farmer, Edna Brumagen, Yvonne Sylvester, Martha Honkamp, Lois Robinson, Virginia Robinson, Mary Helzer, Elizabeth Green, Katherine Smoot, Ruby Dunn, Whitlock Fennell, Edith Mayes, Sara Reynolds, Mary Higginson, Gayle Elliott, Dorothy Compton, Mary Wieman, Jane Matthews, Eleanor Hillenmeyer, Elizabeth Jones, Mary Stanley, Madelyn Shively, Helen Wunch, Nancy Becker, Hazel Nollan, Grace Lovett, Dorothy Martin, Margaret Greathouse, Katherine Cooke, Dorothy Gordon, Mary Carolyn Terrell.

Misses Helen Glover, Janet Sparks, Frances Bush, Faith Abbott, Elizabeth Drury, Frances Potter, Corinne Moore, Dorothy Woodford, Elizabeth Davidson, Sara Whittinghill, Sara Karsner, Opal Hubble, Marjorie Moreland, Katherine Reed, Elizabeth Hardin, Louise Ewing, Betty Blanford, Elsie Walker, Esther Combs, Caroline Ronsavall, Harriett Lancaster, Margaret Robinson, Dale Franklin, Nell Williams, Sally Stewart, Bertha Calvert, Mary Wallace, Willie D. Fowler, Katherine O'Connor, Peggy Nunnally, Elizabeth Coleman, Marjorie Geary, Anna Bell Powe, Betty Baxter, Betty Whipp, Blanche Griffin, Eleanor Hanson, Nancy Hook, Barbara Beck, Beatrice Phillips, and Eloise Neal.

Bishop McConnell Entertained
Bishop McConnell, of New York, who is a visitor on the campus this week, will be the guest of honor at a dinner at 6:15 o'clock this evening, given by the cabinets of the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. in the private dining room of Boyd hall. Other guests will be President and Mrs. McVey, Professor and Mrs. E. A. Bureau, and Professor and Mrs. Karaker. The senior cabinets of the two groups are in charge of the arrangements.

Tomorrow, Bishop McConnell will be honored at the luncheon meeting of the Pitkin club at the Maxwell Presbyterian church. The members of the cabinets of the Y. M. and Y. W. are also invited.

The ministers of Central Kentucky will hold a luncheon Thursday in the University commons, at which time the visiting Bishop will be a guest. From three to five-thirty that afternoon Mrs. McVey will entertain this group at tea at Maxwell Place.

Bishop McConnell is a guest of the Kiwanis Club today at their weekly luncheon meeting.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet is composed of Misses Katherine Jones, Marie Boltznot, Eleanor Dawson, Lois Neal, Joan Carrigan, Elizabeth Wallingford, Helen Morrison, and Virginia Lee Pulliam.

Authoress Is Honored

The Alumnae chapter of Theta Sigma Phi held a luncheon meeting at 12:30 Saturday in the red room of the Lafayette hotel, at which time Mrs. Lawrence Simpson, well-known in the literary world as Elizabeth Simpson, was guest of honor.

In the absence of the president, Miss Jessie Sun, the meeting was presided over by Miss Virginia Boyd. Miss Marguerite McLaughlin introduced Mrs. Simpson, a former member of the fraternity, who gave a delightful talk concerning her book,

"Bluegrass Houses and Their Traditions." She was presented with a beautiful corsage of violets as a compliment from the group.

The place cards bore attractive sketches of Maxwell Place, and selections concerning it copied from Mrs. Simpson's book.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Frank L. McVey and Miss Sarah Blanding. The following members were present: Misses Virginia Boyd, Emily Hardin, Marguerite McLaughlin, Ellen Minihan, Martha Minihan, Eleanor Smith, Martha Connell, Harriet McCauley, Willy King, Helen King, Ethel Stamper, Mary Alice Salyers, Margaret McClure, Billy Whitlow, Virginia Daugherty, Mesdames H. B. Morrison, Thomas R. Underwood, Frank Murray, Reid Meacham, and Byron Pumphrey.

Tea for Freshmen

XI chapter of Alpha Xi Delta entertained from 4:30 to 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon with a formal tea in honor of new girls of the University.

The house was attractively decorated with pink roses, and lighted with green tapers. In the receiving line were Miss Louise Mitchell, president of the chapter, and Mrs. Howard Rodman, housemother.

Refreshments of brick ice cream and individual cakes, embossed with the Greek letters of the sorority, were served, and during the afternoon the guests were entertained by Miss Ruby Dunne, violinist, and Miss Florence Ecklar, accompanist. About 25 girls were welcomed during the receiving hours.

Entertain with Luncheon

Members of Alpha Delta Theta entertained Saturday noon with a luncheon at the Teacup Inn in honor of rushees. Roses adorned the tables and a delightful luncheon course was enjoyed by the guests. After luncheon the members of the party attended a picture show.

White Elephant Party

The alumnae of Alpha Delta Theta entertained the Alpha and Beta chapters Friday evening with a "White Elephant" party at the Beta chapter house on South Limestone street.

Valentine decorations were used throughout the house, and delicious refreshments were served. All brought articles for the "white elephant" collection.

Those present were Mrs. Enell Dean, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Louis Toombs, Mrs. Richard Hare, Mrs. J. W. Craig, Mrs. George Blackburn, Mrs. Anderson Brown, Beta chapter house mother; Misses Carolyn Chase, Virginia Clark, Bess Krieger, Mary Louise Norman, Lillian Gordon, Catherine Carpenter, Frances Lutes, Nell Moore, Mary Edwards, Mary Quirk, Stella Bach, at Lois Robinson, Agnes Worthington, Eleanor Smith, Fern Osborne, Ethel Almont, and Kathleen Smith.

Alpha Delta Theta Mothers' Club

The Mothers' Club of the Alpha Delta Theta sorority is having a dinner for the girls Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the chapter house on South Limestone. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Mrs. A. C. Brown, Mrs. Lela W. Cullis, Mrs. M. E. Weathers, Mrs. Ben Offutt, and Mrs. H. C. Robinson.

FRATERNITY ROW

Mr. T. J. Ropke and Mr. Ira Lyle passed last week-end at their homes in Louisville.

Miss Elsie Walker, a student of Centre college, was the week-end guest of Miss Louise Ewing and attended the Alpha Sigma Phi formal.

Miss Helen Hull, of Eastern State Teachers college, attended the Alpha Sigma Phi dance.

Misses Betty Blanford, Louisville, and Miss Betty Whipp, Liberty, were dinner guests at the Alpha Sigma Phi house Sunday.

Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Mr. and Mrs. James Morris, Mr. and Mrs. James Henson, Miss Grace Davis, Miss Mary Dantzier, and Mr. Lloyd Mautz.

Members of Kappa Delta sorority entertained several rushees Saturday afternoon with a theatre party, followed by an informal tea at the chapter house. Refreshments consisted of Russian tea and ginger bread.

Lambda Lambda of Sigma Chi announces the pledging of Mr. Filmore Gilmer, Big Stone Gap, Va.; Mr. Walter Rodes, Lexington, and Mr. Dan Payne, Covington.

Mr. Jack Smith, a Sigma Chi pledge, is at his home in Covington recovering from a tonsil operation. He will return to school Tuesday.

Messrs. Richard Long and Rufus Gilson spent the week-end at the Delta Chi house.

Sigma Nu fraternity entertained a number of guests at dinner Sunday noon at the chapter house. The guests were Mrs. Charles McCauley, Misses Jane Glens, Ann Stevenson, Margaret Brown, Frances Houlihan, Anita Murphy, Mary Synder, Elizabeth Preston, and Esther Briggs.

Miss Halle Howard, Cynthia, was a guest at the Alpha Xi Delta house for the week-end.

Miss Helen Glover, Zeta Tau Alpha, has left the University and returned to her home in Ft. Thomas. She will go to Los Angeles next month where her marriage to Mr. Corwin Prather will take place.

Miss Susan McDowell and Miss Betty Brown were luncheon guests at the Zeta house on Sunday.

"A Jersey Bull, Mr. Shorthorn, Or a Buffalo?"

Mrs. Jersey Cow Presents Mr. Bull With April 1 Joke in February

By — THE KEYHOLE

April Fool, the day of all days, is the time for the pranks of the playful human, but when the old custom becomes initiated into the ranks of animals, we are more or less flabbergasted.

The following is a story confirmed by the College of Agriculture as a fact, and not an attempt to rival the story by Captain Grady made famous by Lowell Thomas, which was published in the last issue of this paper.

It seems that on April 1, 1932, Farmer Savage, near Maysville, heard a terrific commotion in his stable lot. Hurrying to the scene, he found a somewhat angry father, Mr. Shorthorn Bull, who was belaboring to the extent of his lung power the words which may be translated in the English as "ice-man," "milkman," etc. Mr. Savage was astounded. However, in one of the stalls he found an amazing thing. Mrs. Jersey Cow had given birth to the most peculiar sort of an animal, and the farmer was readily able to comprehend the extent of the father's ferociousness.

The calf closely resembled a buffalo, with a thick shaggy mane, and the characteristic hump in its back. The face likewise was like that of a buffalo, being slightly dished and a pug nose. In fact Mr. Savage chose to call it the "buffalo calf."

What was wrong with the calf, neither the farmer nor his neighbors were able to decide among themselves. It was decidedly curious, however, and the news of the animal was carried far and wide. A photo of the deformed beast appeared in the Lexington Leader a few days ago, and the story even traveled to the Associated Press. Farmer Savage actually perceived visions of presenting his odd treasure at the World Fair this summer.

But alas! The hand of death is never satisfied, and the doors of the animal valhalla were opened wide to receive the "freak," which strangely enough, reached the age of 10 months, and although 30 inches tall, weighed 200 pounds.

Professor Horlacher, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture, journeyed to the farm and brought the dead animal back to the institution. A post mortem examination was held which several of the professors of the campus attended.

At length the examiners reached a decision and Farmer Savage was given an answer in regard to the peculiar malady of the calf.

It was found that this animal had a case of an underworked thyroid gland and pituitary gland. In short, it was said to be a "typical Cretin Dwarf."

So cheer up. That thyroid gland that's causing you to tip the scales at a ton too much, or not to balance the scales at all, is also unwelcome among animals. That is, if you will accept Professor Horlacher's story, regarding which he says "Believe it or not," with apologies to Ripley. Thanks Bob!

FAMILIAR FACES

At the Y. W. C. A. luncheon for town girls and "commuters" one of the "outstanding personalities" on our campus, whom to be introduced to the gathering of etres was Katherine Jones. "Jones" is one small town girl who has made good on this man's campus despite the fact that she lacked organized backing.

She entered in 1929 and began a career of extra-curricular activities that have resulted in her participation in a long list of campus "doings". She is president of Y. W. C. A., vice-president of W. A. C., and also of Pitkin club; she is actively occupied on The Kentuckian and Guignol staffs, and will get her degree in June in the Arts and Sciences college, having pursued a major in English.

Incidentally, "Jones" is particularly partial to beer and pretzels, free meals, Atlanta, Georgia, and the weather. She also has a decided weakness for having her back rubbed.

And last of all, "Jones" is unusually fond of anyone who hails from Millersburg, Ky. You guessed it right. It's her home town.

People just can't keep from getting things confused. For instance the Jester heard a person remark that he was attending the Harm and Fome Convention. Perhaps we will get beer back, or was it that kind of foam?

Monuments — Herg's to the instructor who never said, "I hope you made an A," as you were leaving after the exam!

INTRAMURAL

By HENRY C. McCOWN

The finals in Intramural free throw were decided in the Gym Annex last Friday night with the Sigma Chi team with a total score of 331. Their closest rivals were Phi Kappa Tau with a total score of 216.

The two high point men in the tournament were J. Mahana, Phi Kappa Tau, with 78 out of a possible 100 and D. House, Independent, with 76 out of a possible 100.

Handball should be wound up some time this week. Rosa and Block are slated to take on Brin-gardner and Forsyth in the doubles and either Reuter or Fieber will take on Maurer in the singles. Both matches should prove interesting and those that attend them are assured of seeing some mighty fast handball.

It seems quite a pity that a school of more than 2,000 students should not have a swimming pool. Almost all other schools of this size have at least one pool. It would not be so bad if there was a good pool somewhere in Lexington, but as it is, at the first sign of winter the old swimming suit goes back in the moth balls.

"Hack" is going to see if it would be possible to hold a swimming meet at Joyland pool sometime during the latter part of the semester. Personally, I believe that more students would turn out for intramural swimming than any other sport. What do you think about it? Let's all talk it up and see if we can't put Kentucky on a level with other schools of its size. In that respect.

Don't forget bowling entries close February 8. The basketball practice schedule has been posted on the bulletin board at the west entrance of the Alumni gym.

Free Throw Finals

Sigma Chi	331
Phi Kappa Tau	316
Independent A. C.	306
Kappa Sigma	300
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	297
Delta Tau Delta	283
Alpha Sigma Phi	255
Kappa Alpha	224
Lambda Chi Alpha	132
Phi Delta Theta	117
Alpha Gamma Rho	107

Bah!

Mary went to heaven.
But got into a jam;
St. Peter asked her what Had happened to the lamb.

Tears came fast, for Mary Missed his little bleat—
The lamb had met the wolf
On old Wall street.

People know it..

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand — he generally comes right out flat-footed and says... "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco... and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this... every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.

Chesterfield Radio Program—Every night except Sunday, Columbia coast-to-coast Network.

THEY'RE Milder —
THEY TASTE BETTER

© 1933, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Chesterfield

You'll always have the price! if you buy shoes for their quality, fit and style instead of judging them by price — at least that is true of Nisley's because only in high priced shoes can you equal them in fit or beauty

Pumps available in about 30 heel hugging styles include the charming Peggy pictured in Grey Kid.

Every girl should also have a white more pump or sandal that may be dyed to match her formal.

Nisley
Beautiful Shoes
in a waiting you deserve

KITTENS TO PLAY LEE COLLEGE TONIGHT

After a week's layoff, Coach "Spinner" Campbell's Kitten basketball squad will go into action again tonight when it meets the Lees college varsity quintet at 8 o'clock in the Alumni gym. This is the second meeting of the two teams.

In the first game played on the Lees College home court in Jackson, the Frosh swamped the collegians 67-16. According to reports, the Breathitt county boys have improved since the first contest, but they will have to be hitting on all five to take the measure of the Campbellmen.

In the practice sessions and in the last game the coaches, Miller and Campbell, have been changing their lineup around, trying to find the most effective combination. Against Georgetown's Frosh, the Kitten starting lineup showed Eddie Esch at one of the forward berths with "Slip" Jerome, Garland Lewis at the pivot, and Edwards and Arnall at guards. Glen Mester, who recently became eligible, also saw action at forward and showed up well. The same lineup will probably start tonight's encounter with either Esch or Mester at one of the forwards.

Depression Is Cause of Studies Hunting Work

The effect of the depression which has swept from the college campus much of the gay background against which the undergraduate posed his studies has also adversely affected college enrollments, a survey of 24 colleges and universities of the country indicates.

In answer to queries from The New York Times, officials of institutions from Boston to Berkeley estimated that the chief effect of the depression had been to modulate the carefree joy of campus life and to focus the attention of students on books and blackboards. The student of 1932, many of the replies indicated, has sold the flashy roadster and is buying second-hand books, and more than ever before he is asking for scholarship aid, low-priced dormitory rooms, and a chance to work his way.

An interpretation of the statistics and replies indicates a trend away from technical education toward cultural subjects. In general, the institutions the enrollments of which were most affected by the depression, seemed to be those located in the farming belts of the Middle West. Most of the local colleges and universities maintained their enrollments at about the same figures as last year, and a few Eastern institutions such as Amherst, Fordham, Harvard and Vassar reported slight increases in their student attendance. Columbia, with an estimated drop of more than 1,000 students, reported the largest loss of any of the 19 institutions.

At the University of California the "chief effect of the depression noted here is prolongation of the college period by students already registered and return of old students who once left. Enrollment of new undergraduates never attending before shows a tendency to decrease. Apparently students who formerly were attracted from college by offers of lucrative positions are now continuing their studies for lack of something better to do. On the other hand, students who have not yet entered college drag out high school work or enter local junior colleges to save money by living at home."

Columbia Paper Favors Abolition Of Fraternities

The Columbia University Spectator, undergraduate publication, advocates the abolition of all fraternities at the university, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The recommendation was made editorially following an investigation which the newspaper said, disclosed that a group of twelve of the Greek letter societies had combined to "cold-bloodedly" auction off to "the highest bidder" many of the honorary student positions.

The paper said letters of the groups had admitted dictating "the majority of the elections to the student board, the King's Crown board of governors and offices in the junior and senior classes," and had promised to adopt a new policy of open diplomacy.

Arthur J. Lelyveld, editor-in-chief of the publication and writer of the editorial, said he had learned in the course of the investigation that his election was one that was dictated by the group.

The editorial said, "The fraternities must be abolished. When the political leaders of twelve of the so-called most respectable houses on the campus can cold-bloodedly tell how they auctioned off honorary positions to the highest bidders, we believe that conditions have hit a new low."

KAMPUS KERNELS

(Continued from Page One)
7:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 7. The following activities will please be present: W. H. Bryant, W. C. Burchett, J. M. Crain, P. Fulcher, W. B. Hunt, H. A. Isaacs, R. A. Lawson, L. O. Miles, C. O. Wallace, A. O. Miller, W. Pyatt, O. P. Reuter, J. A. Salmons, J. J. Wheat, F. D. Willey, J. H. Mills, G. B. Harvey, S. F. Mus-selman, John L. Carter.

FOUND—Ladies' silk scarf; was left in typing room. Call at Kernel Press room.

COURT IMMORTALS

FOREST SALE—FORWARD CENTER

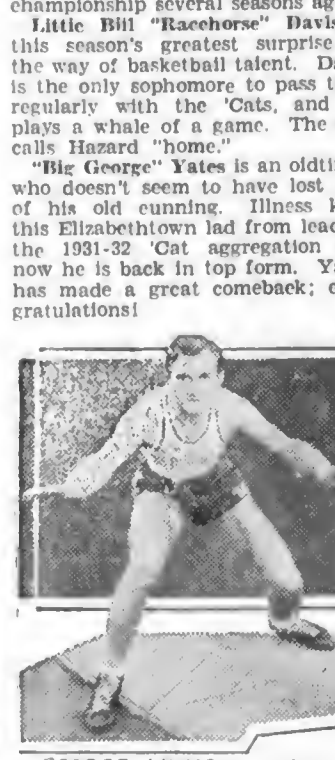

ELLIS JOHNSON—GUARD

JOHN DEMOISEY—FORWARD CENTER

DARRELL DARBY—FORWARD

GEORGE YATES—GUARD

BILL DAVIS—GUARD

is a senior and hails from Lawrenceburg.

Ellis Johnson needs no introduction to Kentucky supporters. The former Ashland flash captained last season's Wildcats, and has been active in Kentucky athletics during the past four years. Johnson was an all-American scholastic twice.

Darrell "Metzger" Darby is playing his third season with the Ruppmen. Another Ashland product and a mighty good one; Darby was an all-American when Ashland won the national high school basketball championship several seasons ago.

Little Bill "Racehorse" Davis is this season's greatest surprise in the way of basketball talent. Davis is the only sophomore to pass time regularly with the 'Cats, and he plays a whale of a game. The boy calls Hazard "home."

"Big George" Yates is an oldtimer who doesn't seem to have lost any of his old cunning. Illness kept this Elizabethtown lad from leading the 1931-32 'Cat aggregation but now he is back in top form. Yates has made a great comeback; congratulations!

John "Frenchy" DeMoisey, the free-wheeling ace who can really make opponents see stars when he shifts into high gear. The Walton star specializes in twist shots and when they hit the net fans are left gasping. John classifies as a junior.

WILDCATS DROP TOUGH ONE 44-38

In the last of three games played in three nights in their recent southern trip, the Wildcat basketball team lost a fast struggle to the South Carolina Gamecocks on the state's home floor by a score of 44-38.

The 'Cats, tired after their long trip and hard games on the two nights before, played their usual great floor game, but just could not stop the fast attack of the home team after Henderson began to get the range. This elongated center, in addition to scoring 19 points to lead the scorers for the night, held the Wildcats centers, Sale, DeMoisey and Yates, to a very few points, although "Aggie" Sale did manage to collect 11 points, mostly on fouls. Little Davis led the attack of the Big Blue for the third straight night and collected 11 tickets for himself. The rest of the 'Cats seemed to be off form and played listlessly.

'Cats Overwhelm Mexicans by 81-22

(Continued from Page One)
Tehan, referee, must have thought he was being called upon to be another Jack Pershing and stop the fighting.

Kentucky finished the game with nearly all her substitutes seeing action. The Orange quintet looked much more impressive against the subs—but the battle ended 81-22. One of the things that may have been responsible for the failure of the invaders showed signs of fatigue from their trip, which is in its tenth week and on which the south-erners have played over thirty games. However, the "Fals" played an exceptional fine game of ball.

urns edited by Elizabeth Hardin, society editor, and read, in the language of the "socs", of the happy occasion.

Tennis, under the tutelage of Professor Downing, inaugurated its 1933 season Monday afternoon under the roof of the gym annex. A promising group turned out, but it would be over optimistic to expect a much better team than that of last year.

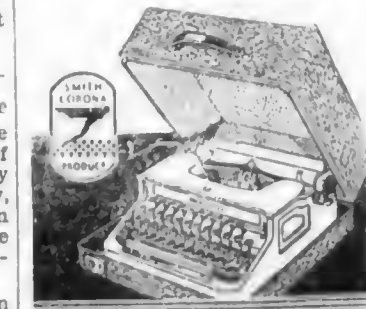

The hardwood conditions of the indoor courts cannot be compared with the less dependable clay courts. The light is different; the spring of the earth feels much different from that of the timbers, and the ball bounds from the boards more accurately. All of those conditions make it hard to predict a seasons results, and a first day's practice is no time for speculations. So we will just have to wait for further developments.

sinnati Enquirer of Sunday, February 5, the Wildcats are expected to play a basketball game with Coach Joseph Meyer's Xavier University Musketeers either Wednesday or Thursday of this week. Such a statement is not wholly correct according to Daddy Boles, athletic director, and Coach Adolph Rupp, Wildcat cage mentor, who say that the Cincinnati coach tried to bill such a game; but that with the 'Cats scheduled to play two games this week and one on next Monday another game this week would be inadvisable.

The University of Mexico, Mexico City, which played the 'Cats last night, is the smallest team to play the 'Cats in many years, if not the smallest team ever to appear on a local floor as a collegiate team. The Mexicans, a colorful aggregation of fast little players, gave the fans a treat by their fast footwork and good sportsmanship. We hope to meet them in Mexico City next year as a part of the Mexico institution's good will program between Mexico and the United States.

Your editor takes up where Delmar Adams left off to further disseminate and comment on the sports happenings.

In case you are not entirely familiar with the story of the marriage of Mr. Stanley Milward "Pug" Bach to Miss Attie Tom Carr, Lexington, and graduate of Pleadome high school, just turn to the col-

Smith-Corona

Your work is so much neater and better, and success is so much easier of attainment with a Smith-Corona, a NEW KIND OF TYPEWRITER.

STANDARD
TYPEWRITER CO.
West Short St.
Opp. Court House

the Mexico team was the fact that they were lightning fast and only superior ability, and not lack of courage kept them from winning.

BOOK REVIEWS

WHEN THE STARS AND STRIPES GO COCKEYED

OF THREE I SING, by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind. Alfred A. Knopf, New York, 1932.

One word description of Of Three I Sing: Cockeyed. This political satire by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind is just that. Besides, this musical comedy in two acts is a Pulitzer prize winner, if that means anything.

The theme of the play is apparent at first sight of the book. It is told on the cover; it is emphasized in the introduction by George Jean Nathan, but it is not realized readily. It is elusive, and it suffers from such ready and blatant showing. It needs distance and retrospect. Even the most casual of emotions will not bear abrupt revelation. They are nonplussed and embarrassed in their nakedness unless a definite mood is created to suit their appraisal.

Taking Of Three I Sing from the shelf for the first time, the reviewer finds a gaudy volume in his hand. It is not gaudy from a sense of outrageous adornment; rather, it is gaudy after the fashion of the much publicized Ballyhoo. The work is covered in flaming red and blue paper, and as if that were not repulsive enough, it carries for ornament, three white stars. Such stars! They are five-pointed, perhaps, but convey the doubtful symmetry of an outraged mongoose, whatever that is. They are such stars as the wheeling finger of an inveterate inebriate might describe. So the reviewer turns to the book with contempt for the publisher who would advertise a volume in so distasteful a manner.

Only after he has read the book does the reviewer realize the true brilliance of selection in adorning the cover of Of Three I Sing in its peculiar fashion. Then he would not give up the buffoon stars for all the other designs on earth. The choice could have not been more proper if the research of years had been applied. The stars are cock-eyed; the cover is cockeyed; Of Three I Sing is cockeyed.

In the last line of his introduction Mr. Nathan warns, "Four a couple of cocktails into, your sobriety and turn the page." Earlier, he writes, "The reading of a musical-show script imposes upon the library a somewhat different attitude from the reading of a dramatic play. That difference is the same difference that attaches to the mood of theatre-going in the instance of a music-show on the one hand and a dramatic play on the other. . . . I accordingly invite the more sober species of reader to engage this script with his top hat cocked saucily over his mind, with his ear filled with the hint of gay tunes and with his eye made merry by the imagined picture of all the relevant and appropriate clowns."

Why the play's comedy dialogue needs stage embellishment is apparent from the following sample to his secretary, Jenkins: "Tell the Secretary of the Navy to scrap two battleships." Jenkins: "What?" Wintergreen: "Scrap two and build four. Disarmament." Again, the toneless lines, "With a hey, nonny nonny, and a ha cha cha!" found herein, the original source, have little effect. Their effectiveness in song is publicly attested.

Although, after reading and looking back upon the play, the reviewer feels that it is worthy of the Pulitzer prize for last year, he does not believe that the greatness will be lasting. Of Three I Sing is a play of the moment; it will die overnight, but it is well worth the hour and a half reading that it requires.

—L. A. H.

LOST—Brown key case with several keys. Please return to Kernel Office or call Ash. 2917.

FOUND—Phi Beta pin, bearing name of Helen Smith, '27; found by colored maid and can be had by calling at 310 Scott Street.

ONE HOUR SHOE REPAIR
Service. Called for and Delivered
Years in Business
HARBER
Shoe Repair Co.
Successor to Morris
209 E. Main Call Ash. 252

"SPEAKING OF BARS"

for our opening number over our Parfum Bar
we are offering Guerlain's and Worth's lovely Parfum at

$1.00 Dram

LAFAYETTE DRUG CO.

Incorporated
Lafayette Hotel Building

Engraved or Printed Invitations

Programs Stationery

Printing of all kinds

We can secure crests for all fraternity and sorority engraving.

The Kentucky Kernel

McVey Hall